Ireland Plans Great MacSwiney Funeral

SELF-STARVATION WILL BE TREATED AS MARTYRDOM

British Government, However, May Order the Body Transported Secretly to Cork in Order to Avoid Demonstrations.

CORPSE OF MACSWINEY TO BE PLACED IN STATE

Owing to British Restrictions, Wife of Mayor Was Not at Bedside When He Died—British Government Throws Strong Guard About Brixton Prison.

London, October 25.—(By the Associated Press.)—Terence MacSwiney, lord mayor of Cork, the most prominent of the Irish hunger strikers and said to have been the brains of the republican army in Ireland, died early today in Brixton prison. The end was not unexpected, for the lord mayor had been unconscious for several days. He was entering upon the seventy-fourth day of his hunger strike as a protest against a sentence of two years imprisonment on several charges, including one of having seditious documents in his possession.

Only his brother, John MacSwiney, and his private chaplain, Father Dominic, were with him when he died. Mrs. MacSwiney and the prisoner's two sisters, Annie and Mary, were at a nearby hotel.

The lord mayor, who was terribly emaciated as a result of his long abstinence from food, had been delirious for many hours and was unconscious when death came.

It was several hours after the lord mayor died before his brother was permitted to tell MacSwiney the sad news. She immediately went to the prison, accompanied by her parents and the Misses MacSwiney, and the family group, stoical and dry-eyed, prayed over the body as it lay on the cot.

There were untoward demonstrations outside the prison after the news of MacSwiney's death became generally known. A large force of police had been concentrated to put down any disorder that might occur. It was said at the prison that the reason for withholding permission to tell MacSwiney the news of his death was that it was in the prisoner's interests.

Just before MacSwiney died Father Dominic and John MacSwiney knelt at the bedside and offered prayers. The priest administered the rites of extreme unction.

May Move Body Secretly.

It is well within the possibilities that the body will be taken to Cork secretly in order to avoid unpleasant results from whatever demonstrations might be arranged in England and Ireland along the route traversed by the train bearing the body. There is no intimation that any official advocates refusal to send it to Cork.

The home office, in charge of prisoners, which would control the removal of the body in England, said that no plan for the removal of the body had been officially considered. At the Irish office it was declared that no plan had been formulated for the transfer of the body to Ireland and that final decision on this point would rest solely with Dublin castle.

It is within the powers of the home office to give up the body of a prisoner in whatever way is deemed most expedient. It is pointed out that it could legally transfer the body in secret to some out of the way port and later to a government vessel and deliver it at Cork.

Police Blocked Crowds.

As soon as the news of the lord mayor's death began to spread through the city, small knots of people began moving toward Brixton prison. The police, however, did not allow anyone to move into the prison.

Cox and Roosevelt Given State Convention Praise But Platform Is Decried

Watson and Hardwick Nominated, Following Speeches by Both, in Which Criticism Held Prominent Place.

WILSON VIOLENTLY ATTACKED BY WATSON

One of First Acts of Convention Was to Prevent Introduction of Resolutions Praising the Administration.

Macon, Ga., October 25.—(Special.)—The Georgia democratic state convention today controlled by a majority of delegates appointed from the supporters of Thomas W. Hardwick for governor, declared its unalterable opposition to the league of nations; called upon the senators to oppose ratification of the peace treaty; declined to permit debate on resolutions on the floor, thus throttling at the door any purpose of minority members to urge an endorsement of the democratic administration, and the national platform; presented the strange anomaly of endorsing the national democratic candidates who are running on a platform it did not endorse; ratified the primary nominations of Thomas E. Watson for the senate and Thomas W. Hardwick for governor, and adjourned—all within a few hours, so well oiled was the steam roller, and so smooth the track that had been built for it.

The convention was largely perfunctory. The program had been arranged at a conference Monday night between Watson and Hardwick and their advisors. It was adhered to to the letter.

The minority delegates, appointed from those counties carried by Mr. Walker in the October 6 primary, made no attempt to block, hamper or retard the free hand of the majority. Comparatively few of the Walker or minority delegates were present. Many of them had previously given their proxies to Hardwick supporters, realizing in advance the democratic national platform and the democratic national administration or platform endorsed, and submissive necessarily to let the victors go their full length along the lines on which their elections had been won, without the interjection of protests, or fruitless efforts to alter a plan of action already known and discounted.

Good Humor Prevailed.

The convention, therefore, was in the best of humor. The steam roller was simply taken to the top of the incline and started on a straight course down hill. It didn't waver from the path made for it. The program put a barrier at the very gateway against any indecorum of the administration or party platform by adopting a rule that no resolution could be debated on the floor without first being reported out by the resolutions committee. Therefore no member of the convention who believed in support of the administration could be permitted to say as much, the resolutions committee being selected to carry out the wishes of the Watson-Hardwick control.

The resolutions committee, therefore, not only did not report out any endorsement of the administration or of the San Francisco platform, but in endorsing the democratic candidates for president and vice president qualified the resolution with a further voice of opposition.

Noted Market Expert to Write Daily For The Constitution

R. L. Barnum, recognized as one of the greatest authorities in the country on financial matters, will contribute, beginning with this issue, a daily article on the stock market and other financial news of interest.

Mr. Barnum is already an old friend of the readers of The Constitution's market pages by reason of his weekly reviews which have been appearing for many years.

Announcement that these weekly reviews are now supplemented by a daily article means that the same keen analysis, the same balanced judgment that have characterized Mr. Barnum's Sunday articles will now be provided readers of The Constitution every day of the week.

These articles, in short, will be daily digests of the world's financial developments written by a man known in every big city as the greatest commentator on these subjects.

COX IS WILLING FOR COMPROMISE ABOUT LEAGUE

If Elected, He Will Sit Down With Senate and Reach Agreement as to Reservations.

"EXECUTIVE WILL"
NOT TO BE DOMINANT

Governor Willing to Base Agreement on Result of Senatorial Elections. Thousands Hear Cox's Speeches in West Virginia.

Huntington, W. Va., October 25.—Governor Cox announced today that if elected president he would "sit down with the senate and make an agreement" upon the league of nations and that this agreement should be determined by the senatorial elections.

The "executive will," the democratic presidential candidate said, should not control, and it is unthinkable, he declared, that American membership in the league should be postponed two years when the next senatorial elections would be held. American membership, he indicated, was the primary consideration. That he favored American participation with "clarifying" reservations was reiterated by the governor.

Hailed by members of the governor's party as one of the most important of campaign developments, the candidate's announcement was in response to an open letter sent today to Governor Cox and his republican opponent, Senator Harding, by 50 of their supporters urging them to accept whatever revision of the League reservations two-thirds of the next senate might approve.

Gov. Cox's Statement.

The governor's statement, issued during a rushing West Virginia tour today read:

"The situation is this: I favor going into the existing league with clarifying reservations. Senator Harding has said that he was not interested in clarification, but in rejection. I have every expectation that over the November 2nd of the partisan spirit that has been visited upon discussion of the league will have subsided. One-third of the seats of the senate are to be filled this year. The people understand the issue and we will accept their expression at face value. I will, therefore, sit down with the senate and reach an agreement about our going into this league. There is no other, and any talk of a new association is but idle phrase. The important thing is to get a start and help to stabilize world conditions which vitally affect the interest and welfare of America. For us to remain out of the league for two years or until another election could be held would be unthinkable. If too much has to be given in compromise now in order to insure our entrance into the league, the people themselves will have an opportunity to modify and correct later. It cannot be a matter of the exercise of merely the executive will; it is a matter of the people's will."

DIXIE'S GREATEST FAIR WILL COME TO CLOSE TONIGHT

Attendance Is Already More Than 20,000 In Excess of Figures for This Time Last Year.

PAGEANT AND RACES WILL THRILL CROWDS

Spectators Witness Record-Breaking Auto Races Monday Afternoon—Officials Well Pleased With 1920 Results.

TUESDAY'S FAIR PROGRAM.

Morning.

8:00—Admission gates open.

9:00—Exhibit buildings open.

10:00—Johnny J. Jones shows in Larkland, Roller Coaster, Merry-Go-Round, Scenic Railway, etc.

Afternoon.

2:30—Grand automobile races.

4:30—Auto polo in front of grandstand.

Evening.

7:00—Johnny J. Jones shows in Larkland, etc.

8:00—"From Days of Old," historical pageant.

9:00—Fireworks.

Exhibit buildings close.

12:00—Grand finale.

"Last Chance."

This one-time familiar old sign which confronted the homebound wayfarer as he emerged from the suburbs of the city now hangs above the gates of the Southeastern fair.

Today is the last chance for visitors to make their way through the great buildings at Lakewood which house literally miles of exhibits; for spectators to rise from their seats in the great grandstand thrilled by the spectacle of racing cars thundering down the course to record-breaking finishes; for Georgians to witness the gigantic pageant of 1,500 people unroll in panoramic splendor the history of their southland; and for youth to follow the lead of fun and frolic through Larkland's pleasure mazes. Tonight at 12 o'clock the Lakewood gates close upon a successful 1920 fair.

More than 20,000 Present.

Atlanta, after a week of the big exposition to the thousands of out-of-town visitors, on Monday claimed its own privilege of supporting the association en masse and carrying the attendance well over the 20,000 mark of the corresponding day of 1919. More than 6,000 heads turned as one following the olive drab Flat of Sig Haugdahl as it sped around the Lakewood course to establish the new track record of one mile in 47.25, only one second above the world's record on a dirt course.

Again at night the grandstand presented a human wall built upon tier upon tier when the first scene of "From Days of Old" opened the historical narrative of the colossal pageant. The great audience was quickly carried from the days when savages roamed at will in the forests of Georgia into the early colonial period, and then suddenly thrown into the tumult of the revolution. From the turbid days of the war the dramatic panorama rapidly slips into the seductive charm and alluring opulence of the ante-bellum plantation life. Darkies resurrected from Uncle Remus and gayeties of Thomas Nelson Page are so realistic that stage and acting are forgotten.

Civil War Comes.

Breaking up this idyllic life comes the civil war. With the aid of fireworks the battle of Atlanta is presented with superb realism. Thrill follows thrill closely until the days of reconstruction arrive, and the spectacle of the southland by the Ku Klux Klan robed in white, bearing the blood red banner of the United States, led by the flaming torch, is effected. Concluding the production are the special dances and professional in which the agricultural, mineral and manufacturing development of the state are presented. The pageant closes at 9 o'clock.

Fireworks, which form an important part of the state fair, are being the scene depicting the "Battle of Atlanta," will be resumed immediately after the close of the pageant, and an elaborate display has been arranged.

The feature of Monday's automobile races was the lowering of the Lakewood track record for the mile by Sig Haugdahl in his Flat. With a two-lap start, he circled the slalips in 47.25, lowering the former record of 48.45 seconds established by Jules Ellingboe at Lakewood in 1919. Haugdahl's time for the mile is only one second above the world's dirt track record.

Most Exciting Event.

The Southeastern derby of ten miles for sweepstakes of $1,600 proved one of the most exciting.

SOUTH IS RECOGNIZED BY FINANCIAL WORLD

Says Fairfax Harrison in His Annual Report to Directors of Southern Railway—Horizon Is Bright for Future.

Picture the southland as released from the absorbing activities of the strenuous war times and turning to the peaceful pursuits of industry and commerce, President Fairfax Harrison, of the Southern railway, in his annual report to the directors, just made public, portrays the states south of the Potomac as preparing to step over the threshold of an era of permanent prosperity and industrial importance, that promises to become the greatest epoch in the history of the south.

The business world is now recognized by the business world to be prosperous, measured by every economic test," declared Mr. Harrison, "and the long generation struggle for bare existence has passed."

Mr. Harrison, in enumerating the causes for the prosperity of the south, declared that the most potent causes for the permanent prosperity that is unquestionably promised, is that the standard of living has been materially raised among the people of Dixie.

Following the war between the states, declared the president, the south produced, at low costs, what it had to sell as raw material, and further states that these products, manufactured in the north, were returned to the people of this section at high prices. The condition that continued for many years served to keep the south poor. But, with the development of southern industry within the past few years there have also come higher prices for raw material and higher wages for southern people. These causes have been responsible for increasing the earning and purchasing power of the average southern family, which means, of course, a higher state of prosperity.

Believe in Home Industry.

Mr. Harrison is further convinced that the prosperity of the southern people is based upon permanency, shows that the people here are more fully alive to the potentiality of fostering home industries, which means higher rates of return upon southern production.

"The argument," continues Mr. Harrison, "that there is and has been inflation and extravagance in the present situation may be justified and will be tested by the event, but the cheerful fact remains that the south is today feeling what under construction between July 1, 1917, and June 30, 1920, along the lines of the Southern railway. These figures include extensions of old industries, and are compared with $155,165,000, the cost of plants under construction between July 1, 1917, and June 30, 1920, along the lines of the Southern railway.

With reference to the prosperity of the south, the report rendered by President Harrison is as follows:

Pursuits of Peace.

"The south, released from the absorbing activities of war, has turned to the pursuits of peaceful industry. It does so with renewed energy stimulated by greater resources than it ever enjoyed before. The south is now running against one of the strongest presidential nominees the

Parliament to Select Successor to Alexander

Washington, October 25.—The Greek parliament will immediately convene to select a successor to King Alexander. It was said at the legation here.

It is believed Paul, younger brother of Alexander, will succeed to the crown.

The present parliament will meet in special session, it was said, although there is a general election a week from Sunday.

Athens, October 25.—(By the Associated Press.)—King Alexander, of Greece, died at 5:30 p. m. today. His death was due to wounds received when a pet monkey attacked him early in October, the king being badly mutilated.

Throughout last night the heart action grew weaker, his general debility became more pronounced and pulmonary symptoms were imminent. Breathing at times was most difficult and alarming, and at noon today it was announced that the king's condition was hopeless.

The king was bitten by the monkey when he interfered to protect his dog from the monkey.

Question of Succession.

The death of King Alexander gives rise to the question of succession to the Greek throne. Former King Constantine was reported, according to Swiss dispatches of October 17, as intending to take advantage of the situation created by his son's grave illness by returning to Greece and claiming the throne.

About the same time a regency was suggested, and Constantine gave his opinion of this as follows: "Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof." I will not think of a regency yet. My plans are those of my people.

Premier Venizelos on Sunday last expressed himself as confident that Prince Paul, third son of Constantine, would not be prevented from taking the throne by his father, as the latter would learn from the coming election that there was no prospect for his return.

Both Prince Arthur of Connaught and Prince Charles of Belgium have been mentioned as possible candidates for the Greek throne, but Premier Venizelos has said that foreign candidates were not being considered.

It is probable that the old claimant

WILL DISCUSS CARE OF ORPHAN CHILDREN

Representatives of Georgia Institutions Are Planning Organization.

Enthusiastic replies from superintendents and board members from the children's institutions of Georgia, both state and private, indicate an intense interest in the conference to be held in the state capitol Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock and the prospect of a large attendance.

The meeting will be devoted to a discussion of the problems of the institutional care of children. The discussion will be led by Miss Gracethe heads of the children's institutions of the state.

The evening session will be devoted to a good fellowship supper in the pipe room at the Ansley hotel, at which T. S. Scoggins, superintendent of the Georgia Baptist Orphan's Home, will be master of ceremonies.

One of the features of the evening session will be the presence of representatives of many state institutions, who will bring a message of co-operation with the state board of public welfare and the children's institutions. Among these will be M. L. Brittain, state superintendent of schools; Dr. T. F. Abercrombie, secretary state board of health; Miss Charlotte Templeton, secretary state library commission; Dr. Lydia Allen De Villiers, department of child hygiene, state board of health; Miss Rubie Busha, secretary of the state health crusade; Dr. N. M. Owenby and Mrs. Howard McCall, chairman of State Federation of Women's Clubs.

The meeting will be open not only to superintendents and board members of institutions, but also to all who are interested in problems of child welfare.

Real Estate Heads From All Sections To Visit Atlanta

Following a conference Monday morning with Thomas Ingersoll, of Minneapolis, Minn., secretary of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, Benjamin D. Watkins, president of the Atlanta realtors, announced that the executive committee of the national association will hold its midwinter meeting in Atlanta, probably about the middle of January.

The men who compose the executive committee of this national realty organization, about 150 in number, are leaders in the real estate business from all sections of the United States. This committee is directing the affairs of the national organization and in its sessions throughout the year consider every phase of the realty trade, including problems of renting, taxation, subleasing, exchanging and the like.

Several hundred prominent realty men from different parts of the country are expected to attend the meeting, although all of those who come will not be members of the body, but will come to benefit from the discussion which will take place among the members of the executive committee.

FORM NEW LAW FIRM Judge Harwell, Fairman and Barrett Join Forces.

Announcement has just been made of the formation of a new law firm in Atlanta, composed of Frank Harwell, formerly a justice of the court of appeals of Georgia; Waverly Fairman and Ellis B. Barrett. The name of the firm is Harwell, Fairman & Barrett. It will occupy offices at 1110-1114 Citizens and Southern Bank building, recently occupied by the firm of Atkinson & Born, which firm was dissolved by the death of both Judge Spencer R. Atkinson and Judge E. W. Born, within the last twelve months.

Judge Harwell is a lawyer of recognized ability and successful in the practice of his profession. He had recently been employed, with other counsel, by the citizens of Decatur to resist the proposed increase in fares of the Georgia Railway and Power company. Since he retired from the court of appeals he has been practicing law in Atlanta.

Waverly Fairman graduated in law at the University of Georgia in 1905. Since that time he has been engaged in the practice of law in Atlanta, and for many years was associated with the firm of Atkinson & Born.

Ellis B. Barrett read law under Judge Spencer R. Atkinson, is a graduate of the Atlanta Law school and had been associated with the firm of Atkinson & Born since 1913.

TELLS OF PROBLEMS OF TELEPHONE SYSTEM

J. Epps Brown Explains Why Southern Bell Asks Higher Rates.

Almost every phase of the telephone situation was discussed by J. Epps Brown, president of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph company at a dinner given by him Monday night to the Kiwanis club. The dinner was held at the Kimball house, and 100 Kiwanians attended.

The address by Mr. Brown was one of a series of discourses by the telephone executive before various civic and commercial organizations of the city. He recently appeared before the Presidents' club, the Ad Men's club and other similar bodies of Atlanta business men.

Mr. Brown's address was of an educational nature. He presented the many problems that confront public service corporations at the application of the Bell system for an increase in rates.

At the regular weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis club, which is to be held today at the Kimball house, plans for the convention of Georgia Kiwanis clubs, to be held in Atlanta November 9-10, will be announced by the committee in charge. Fifteen clubs will be represented at the two-day gathering.

NEW YORKERS OF 82D TO MEET NOVEMBER 1

The regular November meeting of the 82d Division Association of New York will be held on Monday evening, November 1, at the K. of C. building, 305 East Twenty-third street, according to news received in Atlanta yesterday. The meeting will be primarily devoted to entertainment features, which have been provided by the talent of the association.

MACON MAN KILLED WHILE CLEANING AN OLD PISTOL

Macon, Ga., October 25.—(Special.) While cleaning an old pistol at his home on the Forsyth road near Macon today, J. W. Johnston, aged 45, accidentally shot himself, death resulting instantly.

His sister, Mrs. Frank Taylor, had only a few minutes previous supplied him with rag and oil for cleaning the weapon, and she was the first to reach him after the shot sounded.

The deceased was the son of the late John William Johnston, a pioneer resident of Macon, and is survived by his widow and three daughters, Ruth, Mary and Sara; three sisters, Mrs. Arthur Johnson, Mrs. O. J. Copeland and Mrs. Frank Taylor, all of Macon.

JOHN W. WHITAKER HEADS TERMINALS AT CHATTANOOGA

John W. ("Bart") Whitaker, a well-known Atlanta railroad man, who has been general yardmaster of the local terminals of the Southern Railway system for the past ten years, has been promoted to be superintendent of terminals at Chattanooga, Tenn., succeeding W. H. Wheelock, who was forced to give up active work on account of ill health.

Three other Atlanta employees of the Southern are elevated to higher positions as the result of "Bart" Whitaker's promotion, as follows: C. J. Adair, formerly general night yardmaster, and in service 30 years, is promoted to general yardmaster, succeeding Mr. Whitaker.

G. A. Bush, formerly assistant yardmaster, in service 18 years, is promoted to general night yardmaster, succeeding Mr. Adair.

"Bart" Whitaker began his railway career here as a switchman for the Southern on November 6, 1895, and subsequently was promoted to assistant yardmaster, general night yardmaster and general yardmaster.

Country Beef Will Be Sold at Curb Market on Tuesday

The Atlanta Municipal Curb market, corner Gilmer and Courtland streets, will be open Tuesday from 6 o'clock in the morning until 1 o'clock in the afternoon. This market is open each week on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

An attractive feature for today, it is stated, will be the sale of the best cuts of country beef at from 20 cents to 30 cents a pound. Fresh vegetables and fruits at the usual low prices. New items will include graham flour and strained honey. Syrup and cider will be sold.

Saturday was one of the biggest days this year for the curb market. The second crop of summer vegetables at hand Saturday produced the impression of a spring day, rather than the late fall season. Fresh string beans sold for 15 cents a quart; butterbeans for from 10 cents to 15 cents a quart; tomatoes at 10 cents a pound, and corn at from 45 cents to 50 cents a dozen ears.

There are about 130 species of bats, and these are distributed over nearly every quarter of the globe. The larger bats are found in the warmer regions.

Crippled Children's Hospital Gets Unanimous Vote—Big Class Elected.

At the business meeting of Yaarab temple held in Masonic temple last evening the nobility by unanimous vote ratified the action of the imperial council in levying an assessment of $2 per capita for the establishment of a Shrine's National Crippled Children's hospital, and the assessment will be collected in December, when cards for 1921 are issued, it being a provision of the imperial council that 1921 cards will not be issued until the assessment is paid.

Request was granted for the nobles of Yaarab temple living in and near Lafayette, Ga., to form a Shrine club. Action on the creation of a widow's fund was carried over to the business meeting to be held in November, at which time the committee will submit a constitution, by-laws and full working rules for organization, to be acted on at that time.

A class of more than 100 members was elected to take the degrees at the ceremonial session to be held in the Auditorium Wednesday night, and the illustrious potentate announced that one of the big features of the evening will be the showing of a five-reel movie of the imperial council parade at Portland, Oregon, in June.

Mrs. Cumble Tells How Cuticura Healed Eczema On Child

"My little son had eczema in a bad form on the back of his neck. It first broke out in little pimples and he could not get any rest for the burning and itching. He scratched and that irritated the breaking out very badly, and he was cross."

"I had him treated but it didn't do any good. I heard about Cuticura Soap and Ointment and began using them. In less than two weeks he was healed and I only used one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment." (Signed) Mrs. W. I. Cumble, Lorenzo, Texas, Dec. 27, 1919.

Clear the pores of impurities by daily use of Cuticura Soap and occasional touches of Cuticura Ointment as needed to soften, soothe and heal. They are ideal for the toilet, as is also Cuticura Talcum for perfuming. Sample Book Free by Mail. Address: "Cuticura," Dept. B, Malden, Mass. Sold everywhere. Keep the Ointment in a bottle. ## PRIMARY WILL NAME CHAMBER DIRECTORS

Work Begun on New Plan to Name Eight New Board Members.

The first direct primary election of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce was begun Monday, when rosters of the membership were mailed to the 3,400 members of the organization, with requests that they offer their nominations for the eight directors which will be chosen to serve the chamber during 1921.

A recent meeting of the board of directors and a subsequent referendum among the members has done away with the old "nominating committee" system of selecting the directors of the body, and the members will name their own nominees. From those named by the membership the sixteen receiving the highest number of nominations will be named November 4 by a special election committee to be appointed by Eugene R. Black, president of the chamber.

When the sixteen have been named eight directors will be elected in the election to be held November 30. These newly elected directors will then meet with the eight directors who are "held over" for service in 1921, and will elect the officers of this civic body for 1921.

This new system is already arousing considerable interest among the members of the organization, who have heartily approved of it as a method of keeping the entire membership in closer mutual contact.

The directors whose terms expire January 1, 1921, are Forest Adair, J. P. Allen, W. D. Ellis, Jr., W. O. Foote, Harry P. Hermance, F. H. Inman, C. P. King and R. K. Ramb.

Unanimous indorsement of the ninth annual meeting of the National Drainage congress, which is to be held in Atlanta, November 10, 11 and 12, was given by the state democratic meeting in Macon, according to information received late Monday by Judge Newt A. Morris.

Judge Morris addressed a letter to the body, calling attention to the meeting, and asking support of Georgians all over the state. Judge Morris set forth the wonderful value to the state of reclamation, and urged upon every delegate to the convention to see that a representative from each county attends the meeting.

Judge Morris declared that he is confident fully five thousand delegates and visitors will be in Atlanta for the meeting, and as chairman of the board of control for the meeting is making arrangements to take care of at least that number. Nationally famous drainage experts from all parts of the country will be in attendance, while invitations have been extended to the heads of the United States agricultural and geological departments to read papers before the convention.

More than eight million acres of fertile land is now lying useless in Georgia, according to Judge Morris, and all of this might be turned to productivity if reclaimed by drainage.

Only two more days remain of the season ticket sale for the All-Star Concert series, which will be opened on Thursday of next week by Titta Ruffo, the great baritone, and which will include Galli-Curci, Zimballist, Schumann-Heink, Rosa Ponselle and Josef Holmann, on its season's program.

There has been an excellent demand for seats for the season's six recitals, but the Evans-Salter musical bureau decided to extend the dates of the season ticket sale for three days this week in order to give every music-lover opportunity to take advantage of the low rates. There are many good seats still to be had, in every part of the Auditorium, at prices ranging from $4.50 to $9.

JAMES SHRIMPTON DIES
Funeral Services Will Be Held in Atlanta.

James Shrimpton, 74 years old, widely-known railroad man, and for many years car inspector for several roads here, died Sunday in Houston, Texas, where he was on a visit to his daughter, Mrs. J. E. Fretwell, having gone there two months ago. He is also survived by another daughter, Mrs. W. C. New, of Oakland City.

The body will arrive Wednesday and will be carried to the chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son, where the funeral will be held, the hour to be announced later. Rev. A. R. Holderby, of the East Point Presbyterian church, in which church Mr. Shrimpton was an elder for many years, will officiate, and the interment will be at West View cemetery. Mr. Shrimpton was a member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

REORGANIZATION OF NATIONAL GUARD

Immediate Action Is Deemed Advisable, Says Statement by the War Department.

Washington, October 25.—Immediate reorganization of the national guard is deemed advisable, said an announcement today by the war department.

The reserve and national guard officers of the general staff on duty in the department have been ordered to visit each corps area headquarters and advise with the corps area commanders and the state authorities with reference to the organization of the guard divisions allocated to the various corps areas.

The table of tentative allotments has been prepared, showing the number of troops to be organized in each state. Under the national defense act, a minimum enlisted strength of approximately 427,995 men must be provided as the peace organization of the national guard. Under the national defense act, the states have until June 30, 1924, to bring their quotas up to the minimum. Quotas for southern states follow:

Alabama, 9,600; Arizona, 2,400; Arkansas, 7,200; Florida, 4,800; Georgia, 11,200; Kentucky, 10,400; Louisiana, 8,000; Mississippi, 4,800; Missouri, 14,400; New Mexico, 2,400; North Carolina, 9,600; Oklahoma, 8,000; South Carolina, 7,200; Tennessee, 9,600; Texas, 16,000; Virginia, 9,600; West Virginia, 4,800.

BIG MAYOR TO SIGN HEATING CONTRACTS

Decision Reached at Meeting of Special Committee Monday.

After careful deliberation at a meeting Monday afternoon over the controversy between the Georgia Railway and Power company and Mayor Key regarding increased rates named in contracts submitted by the company for furnishing steam heat to city buildings, a special committee composed of Councilman F. C. Woodall, chairman; Councilman Claude Ashby and Councilman J. N. Rantow, voted unanimously to recommend to council that this body again ask the mayor to rescind his refusal to sign the contracts.

The power company raised its steam heat rates 100 per cent in the 1920-21 contracts handed to the mayor for his approval and signature. He flatly declined to sign them on the ground that the proposed increase was grossly excessive.

City council disagreed with this view and passed by unanimous vote a resolution introduced by Councilman Woodall calling on the mayor to sign the contracts. The mayor promptly signed the paper, but accompanied his disapproval with a message recommending that the matter be referred to a committee for deliberation.

After going thoroughly into the question of increased cost of labor and higher price of coal the committee sustained the position of council with reference to the new contracts and will ask that body to repeat its request to the mayor to sign them. It is expected that this time the mayor will sign.

Blood In Bad Fix

South Carolina Lady Knew Something Was the Matter With Her Blood, and Took Ziron.

BELIEVING that something was the matter with her blood, Mrs. R. L. Paxton, of Pelzer, S. C., recently took several bottles of Ziron Iron Tonic. She tells the story of her experience below:

"I was weak and run-down. I was nervous and felt all worn out. I had no ambition to do anything—everything I forced myself to do made me feel like I wanted to rest a long time afterwards."

"I felt so bad. I was pale; my skin was bad. Sores came in my head, and I knew my blood was in a bad fix."

"I knew iron was good for bad blood, and a number around me were using Ziron with good results, so I thought I'd try it and see what it would do for me."

"I found shortly after I began it that I was less nervous. I found that the sores were drying up."

"My skin took on a more healthy color. I felt so much stronger—so much so, that I'm sure glad to recommend Ziron."

Showers Descend; First for a Month Bring Chill to Air

One month and one day without rainfall, and just a few drops Monday.

That's the status of affairs, with an outlook which promises the addition of a few more drizzles Tuesday.

There were some who thought that the long drought would tend to overcome the excess of rainfall which Atlanta had already experienced this year, but those few neglected to remember the following facts:

Up to September 24—the date on which the last shower fell, previous to Monday—57 inches of rain had already bespattered the pavements in and about the city. This itself is eight inches over and above the 49 inches which the average for many years promises Atlanta as normal. The average is already outdone; there's no way to correct that.

Accompanying the rain, or rather following it, was a marked tendency in the atmosphere to assume a chilly nip, and by Monday night there were few who denied the advisability of overcoats, wraps and summer furs.

This condition will continue through Tuesday, said Mr. Frank Herrmann, at least, since intermittent showers are expected to fall at random periods during the day. These showers, too, are expected to be the signals for further descent of the mercury.

Not enough rain fell Monday to have any perceptible influence on the drizzle meter, or whatever instrument they're using now, but it was of a sufficient dampness to start winter thoughts a-flying around. Nothing like an October drizzle with Old Man Winter himself is anticipated, but it is expected that the weather will continue gradually to cool off.

BUILDERS OF BRIDGES CONVENE HERE TODAY

800 Delegates Are Expected and Interesting Program Has Been Arranged.

The convention of the American Railway Bridge and Building association, which will be in session in Atlanta Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, will open at the Piedmont hotel this morning at 10 o'clock. Three special trains bringing delegates arrived in Atlanta Monday night. Two other trains carrying delegates are scheduled to arrive early Tuesday morning. It is expected that about 800 will attend the convention.

Composing the American Bridge association are leading engineers in different parts of the United States, who superintend the construction of bridges for the railroads of America.

Many of the delegates will be accompanied by their wives and daughters, for whom special entertainments have been made by the entertainment committee.

Today the delegates will be taken to Grant park and the federal prison. Wednesday evening the entertainment committee announces that a dinner-dance will be given at the Capital City club. A special musical program has been arranged.

OFFICE IS ENTERED, BUT NOTHING STOLEN

The office of T. H. Brooke & Co., in the rear of 212 Marietta street, was entered, presumably by a burglar, late Sunday night or early Monday morning. Nothing has been found missing, however, and the company is at a loss to account for the occurrence. The rear door of the company, opening upon the W. & A. railway tracks, was found open by a policeman going on duty early Monday morning, and company officials were notified. Upon examination, it was found that the drawers of several desks in the office had been opened and rummaged through, and a number of papers disturbed. It is stated that the door had been locked Sunday night.

This takes the perplex out of paint perplexities

Ever wished you had some sort of a book that told you in a right to the point way what to do when you wanted to do some painting, varnishing, enameling or staining? Ever wished you knew what made paint peel or chalk off and how to prevent it? Ever wished you knew the kind of floor paint or varnish to use on old floors and the best way to treat a new one? Ever wished that someone would write a little book about just these things and do it in an interesting, chatty kind of way, so you could find out the things you want to know and be told those you ought to know? In short, you have wished over and over for a book that would take the perplex out of paint perplexities. The Happy Happening Book is your answer. It's a tale of inside and out, told by one who has had a score of years' personal experience with exactly your kind of problems. He tells it to you just as if he were sitting right here by you and having a friendly chat. Send 10c in stamps for this Happy Happening Book.

Neither Governor Cox nor any other demagogue is found anything favoring of the propaganda in the Saturday Evening Post's consistent and unswerving stand behind the great wrong at during the years of the great war."

MAKING STARTS DRIVE FOR STATE VOTES

Marion, Ohio, October 25.—Senator Harding virtually completed the campaign of his last campaign in the state and planned to take a road tomorrow, before starting on the swing of Ohio cities and towns, to receive the remainder of the week.

But he retired early, hoping to sleep until the high of a night cold he contracted on his last speaking trip.

Harding headquarters made public tonight a statement by Judge

M. Gardman, of Wilkes Barre, former chairman of the democratic central committee of Pennsylvania, pledging support of the republican national ticket and declaring that "the pirates now controlling the good ship Democracy will be thrown overboard." He favored Harding for president, "the statement," "first because" a democrat.

His platform and addresses show

he is supporting the constitution and is safer than one who only commends efforts to subvert grand old document."

COTTON GINNERS URGED TO CLOSE

Governor Parker Issues Appeal to Louisiana Ginners and Asks Similar Action by Other Governors.

Monroe, La., October 25.—Governor Parker today issued an appeal to the cotton ginneries of the south to close down for at least thirty days in order that the producers may receive a living price for their products. The appeal was sent by telegram by Governor Parker to the governor of every southern state.

It is as follows:
"The one great agricultural crop in which the south has almost a monopoly is cotton, and with a number of short crops in succession and the certainty that the world needs cotton, it is almost criminal to force this crop on the market at prices far below actual cost, bringing ruin to farmers and thereby ultimate disaster to the spinners and actual suffering to those needing cotton goods."

"The question is a serious one, which should be approached with that earnestness which the critical conditions demand, and not from the standpoint of hysteria or lawlessness."

"Cotton and cotton seed do not appreciate in value if kept out of the weather, and with present congested transportation and storage facilities, if cotton is kept in the seed on the farms, not only will the market be stabilized, but a lasting benefit will accrue to all."

"Bankers and merchants should co-operate in this work, which is equally important to state and nation, to producer and consumer. The present emergency requires the attention and co-operation of all classes of citizens in justifying the request for all gins to shut down for at least thirty days or longer if necessary, in order that the producers may receive living prices for their products and the great cotton industry not crippled or destroyed."

"It seems necessary to issue this appeal in the interest of the public welfare."

SOUTH FACES GREATEST EPOCH OF PROSPERITY

is now recognized by the business world to be prosperous, measured by every economic test. The long generation of struggle for bare existence has passed. Among the causes for this one of the most potent is that the average standard of living has been raised.

"In the years following the war between the states, the south produced at low costs what it had to sell, and sold it as raw material at low prices, but it bought and consumed the manufactures of the north at the high prices which were maintained by the relatively high wages paid at the north. As a result, the south was kept poor. When the development of southern industries in recent years have come higher prices for southern products and higher wages for southern people, thereby increasing the purchasing power of the average southern family. Not only has property been distributed in a way never before known in the south, but the social aggregate of prosperity is greater. This, we take it, is the best sense in which the war has made the world safe for democracy in the United States."

"The argument that there is inflation and extravagance in the present situation may be justified and will be tested by the event, but the cheerful fact remains that the south is today feeling the potentialities of the war."

growing rich beyond the dreams of avarice." We append a few specifications, in support of this general statement, from the facts which come to the attention of a railroad management:

Many New Enterprises.
"The number of new industrial establishments now in course of construction, including additions to enterprises already in operation, is greater than at any time in the history of the south. Five hundred and eight new industries were completed and put in operation along the lines of the Southern Railway system, and two hundred and ninety-four industries were enlarged during the year 1919 and the first six months of 1920. Capital to the amount of $225,816,000 was invested in new industries and in the extension of old enterprises in the territory served by the Southern Railway system during the three years from July 1, 1917, to June 30, 1920, and the estimated cost of plants under construction on the latter date was $152,165,000."

"It is interesting, in connection with these figures, to recall that at the time of the establishment of a single important industry on our lines, noted in the annual report for 1907, we expected that the revenue therefrom to the company would reach $500,000 per annum. Our revenue from this plant today is at the rate of $1,200,000 per annum. The traffic handled for it in 1919 amounted to 630,782 tons, or 24,132 carloads."

"There is a marked increase in the variety of manufactures in the south. The conversion of raw materials into finished articles. Thus, in 1899 but 528,895 bales of cotton were consumed by southern mills, and this year 1,200,000 bales of cotton were consumed by southern mills. The increase in the number of finished articles ready for immediate use. These products now find their way directly from the mill doors to distributing markets throughout the United States and the great cotton industry not crippled or destroyed."

"The number of new spindles in operation on June 30, 1920, represents an increase of 5.3 per cent over the number in operation at the end of 1918."

Again the production of pig iron in the south in 1919 was 2,321,000 gross tons, an increase of 86 per cent over the quantity produced in 1918. More than 50 per cent of the 1919 production was converted into a large variety of finished articles, while only 20 per cent of the 1918 production was melted in the south, and that chiefly into castings and pipe."

"The progress thus noted in the manufacture of finished articles from cotton and iron is fairly representative of the general development of the south's natural resources."

"The exportation of manufactured articles and of coal from the south is rapidly increasing. Difficulties of transportation affecting the movement of traffic through congested terminals of the eastern seaboard have occasioned a larger flow of export traffic through South Atlantic and Gulf ports. Rate adjustments have been established which permit the movement of such traffic in competition with routes through the eastern seaboard. This traffic has reached a substantial volume and is engaging more vessels than ever before frequented southern ports. A healthy increase in this traffic is assured. The service is attracting increased imports as well."

Much Live Stock.

"The raising of live stock is being conducted on an increasing scale. The number of animals in the southern states on January 1, 1920, is set forth in the following table, together with the percentages of increase during a period of four years:

Horses, 2,018,000; increase, 1.2 per cent.
Mules, 2,045,000; increase 9.8 per cent.
Milch cows, 3,507,000; increase 13.1 per cent.

Other cattle, for meat, 5,668,000; increase 17.5 per cent.
Hogs, 16,784,000; increase 22.5 per cent.

"This increase in the production of live stock has been accompanied by the location of stock yard facilities which are being profitably operated, and by the construction and operation of numerous packing houses, the number of the latter now in operation in the south being twenty-one. These packing houses afford a home market for a large proportion of the stock produced in the south. At the same time live stock traffic has increased, our lines handling 264,466 tons during the year 1919, an increase of 10.7 per cent over the preceding year. With prosperity the southern people have become larger consumers of beef. 'Hog meat and hominy' is no longer the chief of their diet. The economic consequences of this development are likely to be important."

"Municipal improvements, including the improvement and extension of streets and public roads, largely suspended during the period of war, have now been resumed and are being pursued with great activity, stimulated by the current market for municipal bonds which have come attractive by reason of their exemption from federal taxes. This activity of municipal construction results, of course, in increased traffic for a railroad, as well as in increased revenue."

"Census returns are not yet sufficiently complete to report the growth in population of the south as a whole, but definite returns from twenty-nine of the more important cities of the south show an increase of 25.4 per cent in the population of 1920 over that of 1910. It seems fair to assume that the south has doubled its population in the last forty-five years."

Wife Is Killed, Husband Injured, In Auto Crash

Mrs. Emmet Davidson Instantly Killed When Car Slides Down Embankment Near Dublin.
Husband's Skull Crushed.

Dublin, Ga., October 25.—(Special.)—Mrs. Emmet Davidson was instantly killed this afternoon, her husband suffered a fracture on each side of his skull and her small son, Cleo Keen, escaped unhurt when the automobile in which they were riding tumbled down a ten-foot embankment at Tingle, about four miles from Dublin, and pinned them underneath the car.

Mr. Davidson is in a serious condition and it is not yet known whether he will live.

According to accounts of the accident Mr. Davidson was driving the car, and while on a fill just beyond the steel bridge over Turkey creek started to pass a wagon.

He somehow drove too near the edge of the embankment and the car suddenly turned over and went to the bottom with a crash. Mrs. Davidson was crushed horribly from the waist up, getting the full force of the blow from the falling car. Mr. Davidson was injured and Cleo Keen was unconscious, but not hurt. Several parties saw the accident and help was given the injured immediately.

Mr. Davidson has been superintendent of street work in Dublin for the past two years and is well known all over the county.

Mrs. Davidson was a Mrs. Keen before her marriage to Mr. Davidson, and has two sons and two daughters. Cleo Keen, 15 years of age, and a son, Theodore Keen, 12, is set forth in the following table, together with the percent-

BRITISH CABINET AND LABOR CHIEFS CONFER ON STRIKE

New Proposals Are Submitted and There Is a Feeling That Great Coal Strike Will Be Settled.

MORE FORCE SOUGHT
BY THE GOVERNMENT

Lloyd-George Explains,
In Asking Emergency
Power Measure, That Government Wishes to Be Ready for Whatever
May Happen.

BY A. E. JOHNSON.

United News Staff Correspondent.
London, October 25.—Under the whip of public necessity, the government is rushing through parliament its "emergency power" bill, granting the cabinet extraordinary means for counteracting any display of force that may show itself during the mine strike, and for protecting the public in the event of a shortage of necessities.

The measure reached its second reading in commons Monday night, with Lloyd-George himself standing sponsor for the rigorous terms included in the measure.

The premier refused, at least publicly, to say whether or not he was hopeful regarding the negotiations now in progress with the miners, declaring that he could not "indicate any opinion at this time" on that subject.

In his defense of the emergency power bill, Lloyd-George declared that the triple alliance, miners, railway men and transport workers, had already arranged plans which if carried to fruition might paralyze the whole life of the nation. The government did not expect such a serious eventuality to arise, he said, but it was nevertheless necessary to be prepared for anything that might come.

No word, accordingly, could be elicited from the government as to the progress in settling the coal strike. It was evident that no member of the cabinet would jeopardize the issue at the present time by making any ill-considered comment on the situation, such is the critical stage at which the conciliators have arrived.

Creeping Paralysis Continues.

The creeping paralysis of the nation continues, growing more evident every day. Further shutdowns of industries other than the mining are experienced in all industrial centers.

There is, however, a more optimistic spirit abroad than was shown during the last days of the week, when the outlook was particularly dark. The postponement of the railway strike immediately heartened the public and gave promise that the worst features of a general strike might be avoided.

All day conferences were held with members of the government and representatives of the miners in attendance. The premier, during the morning, held a long consultation with various coal experts. It was reported that the miners were maintaining their attitude that the demanded increase was just what the situation warranted in the cost of living. In defending the decreased output the miners accused the coal operators of reserving the best veins until the government control of coal should be removed.

Both sides continue secretive regarding the nature of the government's proposal, which, however, is believed to be framed along somewhat similar lines as those suggested by William Brace, president of the South Wales Miners' Federation, in the house of commons last week. This was to the effect that the two shillings demanded by the miners should be granted temporarily, pending the creation of a permanent wage board, and the whole matter reviewed by the end of the year.

Optimism Is Expressed.
Prominent executives of the federation and government officials are quoted by newspapers here as being optimistic of the situation.

It is believed an arrangement will be reached by which each side can in many respects be granted temporary relief, as the National Union of Railway Men decided to defer calling a strike. Such action, it is understood, will not be taken before Wednesday. The labor conference, which was called by the preliminary committee of the trades union congress, will meet on Wednesday, and there are indications that a railway strike, even if eventually called, may be rather half-hearted.

Many messages from local branches are said to have been received at the headquarters of the union, expressing hostility to the idea of a strike.

It is said that until a ballot of the workers has been taken the attitude of J. H. Thomas, secretary of the National Union of Railway Men, will certainly influence a large number of the members. In a speech delivered Sunday, Mr. Thomas, while expressing sympathy for the miners, warned his audience of the dangers of the strike, which, he said, he realized "might lead to the downfall of all of us." He declared he was firm in his determination not to lead such a strike.

Polk Under the Knife.

New York, October 25.—Frank L. Polk, former under-secretary of state, underwent an operation for appendicitis in a New York hospital today. His condition was said to be satisfactory.

EXTERNAL COLD

TREATMENTS MUST PENETRATE TO BE EFFECTIVE

All Doctors Agree on This.
Gowan's Is the Original
Penetrating Salve for Colds,
Spasmodic Croup and All
Inflammations of the Air Passages.

Produces a Rubefacient Effect
Without Irritation.
Breaks Up Congested Blood
Vessels and Brings Quick Relief.

Will Not Stain Clothing

That colds and croup originate in the bronchial tubes, or air passages, is an established fact. It is further agreed that external applications that penetrate are very effective. These are the facts that form the foundation for the Gowan's preparation. An animal fat base is used, which gives it its penetrating qualities and makes it so effective in the treatment of colds, spasmodic croup and all other inflammations of the air passages.

Gowan's gets right to the inflamed membranes through penetration, soothes and heals and opens up the air passages for free and easy breathing. It is especially fine for children and babies, as it produces a rubefacient effect without the slightest irritation and quickly breaks up the congested blood vessels.

Gowan's gives relief beyond belief and will not stain the clothing, and being used externally will not upset the stomach. It has many daily uses in the home and should be kept on hand for emergencies, such as cuts, burns, bruises, insect bites, etc. 30c, 60c and $1.20 at your druggist and guaranteed to please or money refunded.—(adv.)

Washington, October 25.—The campaign committee of the Anti-Saloon league filed a report with the clerk of the house of representatives today showing total contributions for the campaign fund just ending of $2,500 and expenditures of about the same amount. There were eleven contributors, all from Ohio, and individual subscriptions ranged from $100 to $500.

Bandits Rouse Cashier, Aid His Fainting Wife, And Then Loot the Bank

Toledo, Ohio, October 25.—Five bandits early today forced the cashier of the bank at Alvordton, Ohio, in Williams county, to get out of bed, unlock the safe and turn over to them $3,500 in cash and several thousand in Liberty bonds. The bandits forced their way into the cashier's home and gave first aid to his wife who fainted. The robbers sped away in an automobile without harming the cashier.

Mrs. Howkins to Address Catholic Women's Society.

Mrs. J. S. Howkins, of Savannah, representative in Georgia of the National Catholic Women's council, will address the Ladies' Aid society, at the Sacred Heart church, at the regular meeting next Monday afternoon. Mrs. Howkins, a prominent club woman, will be in the city to attend the State Federation of Women's Clubs.

Birthday Party.

Mrs. Philip L. Engle will give a children's party Thursday afternoon at the Piedmont Driving club, in compliment to her little daughter, Elizabeth, to celebrate her fourth birthday.

Today's Calendar.

Dinner-dance at Capital City club.
Matinee and night concerts at Wesley Memorial auditorium by "Million-Dollar Band."
Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Hudson will entertain at dinner in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Otis Wesley.
The Tuesday Ladies' club meeting with Mrs. William Dickcy at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Baby Robinson.
Drama league pageant at the Southeastern fair at Lakewood at 8 p. m.

Morning Meeting Home Economics.

In order to allow its members to attend the art lecture on Wednesday afternoon, the regular monthly meeting of the home economics department of the Atlanta Women's club will be held at 11 a. m. on Wednesday instead of the usual time at 3 p. m. Members are asked to be prompt, as much important business is to be taken up. Brief reports will be made of the work of the playroom, cooking, millinery and exhibits which will be made of the work done. Future work of the classes will be discussed and rules governing them made. It is necessary that all members who are at present in these classes or who are planning to take up the work be present at this discussion.

Mrs. Alonzo Richardson, entertainment chairman for the state convention, will speak of the part to be taken by the home economics department in the program of the convention. Refreshments will be served as part of the demonstration of a well-known food product. All members of the Atlanta Women's club are welcome to join the home economics department, and every member will be able to find some branch of the work which will appeal to her. The officers and present chairmen are: Mrs. Newton C. Wing, chairman home economics; Mrs. J. B. Howe, secretary; Mrs. F. B. Brogdon and Mrs. Frank Daub, chairmen for playroom; Mrs. William Oldknow, chairman auditorium fund; Mrs. Victor Kriegshaber, chairman moving pictures; Mrs. F. B. Ramey, chairman cooking class; Mrs. M. S. Mentzer, chairman sewing and millinery; Mrs. A. K. Treadwell, chairman emergency.

Y. W. C. A. Entertains Club Girls Tonight.

As previously announced in detail, the S. I. S. P. club of Y. W. C. A. business and professional women will entertain all club girls of the association at a supper party to-night at "Y" headquarters, Peachtree Avenue. Mrs. Frank Inman will be speaker of the evening.

Third Ward Women Voters.

The Third Ward League of Women Voters will hold its regular meeting at the home of the chairman on Thursday afternoon, October 28, at 3 o'clock. This is the first meeting of the fall, and will be largely social, only approximately a half hour to be devoted to the business of the league.

Every woman in the third ward who is truly interested in the civic welfare of her ward and city is invited to be present on Thursday, particularly registered women. All officers, district leaders and members of the Third Ward league are requested to be present, as some changes will need to be made in the personnel of the officers and district leaders, owing to the fact that several valuable workers have removed to other sections of the city during the summer months, when no meetings were held. The district leader winning the prize offered in the membership campaign inaugurated in the late spring, will be announced at Thursday's meeting.

To Miss Mary Ward.

Mrs. Norwood Mitchell entertained informally at bridge-tee yesterday at her home on Peachtree street to her charming niece, Miss Mary Ward, of Lynchburg, Va. There were two tables of bridge, the guests including a group of the friends Miss Ward made in Atlanta on the occasion of a former visit.

Club Convention News.

A number of entertainments are planned for the delegates to the state convention of Women's club who arrive on Tuesday, November 2, the day before the opening of the convention. Mrs. Irving Thomas will give a breakfast Tuesday morning. Mrs. E. M. Boykin's luncheon Tuesday will be a compliment to Mrs. W. S. Jennings, of Jacksonville, Fla., vice president of the general federation. On Tuesday evening Mrs. J. E. McKeane will entertain the delegates at dinner at the Daffodil. Mrs. J. E. McKeane, of Savannah, one of the most prominent club women in the state and chairman of program for the state convention, has arrived, and is at the Georgian Terrace. Mrs. Alonzo Richardson will entertain this week. Mrs. Howkins, of Savannah, national committee member from Georgia, will be the guest during the convention of Mrs. Wilmer L. Moore. Mrs. Max E. Land, of Cordele, state representative, D. A. R., another honoree of the convention, will visit Mrs. S. W. Foster. Miss Stella Akin, of Savannah, president of the Georgia Federation of Business and Professional Women, who will be a prominent speaker, will be at the Georgian Terrace. Mrs. McCullom, state president of the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs, will be at the Georgian Terrace.

East Lake Country Club.

The beautiful living room of the East Lake Country club was the scene of much pleasant dining-dance, Saturday night. The entire club was filled with the season's most beautiful flowers, and the orchestra was exceptional.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chalmers, Mr. and Mrs. Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dunn, Mr. and Mrs. Howard McPhail, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. ### Sorority Dance.

The Sigma Tau Sigma sorority of the Sacred Heart school will entertain its members and friends at a masquerade dance at the K. of C. hall on E. Pine street, Friday, October 29, from 8 to 1 o'clock. Tickets are $1 per couple and may be had from any of the following: Misses Mary Bell, Agnes Maile, Annie Ruth Perry, Nanette Antioch, May Agnes Edwards and Elsie Hanley.

Mrs. Winship Critically Ill.

That Mrs. Emory Winship, of Macon, Ga., one of the most prominent women in Georgia, is critically ill at her home in Macon, is the sad news which has come to Atlanta friends. Mrs. Winship was Miss Casey, of San Francisco, and was married to Mr. Winship twelve years ago. Since coming to Macon to reside, she has made many friends. She has identified herself with the philanthropic work of the city, and was a leader in war work activities.

en and children of the community to suffer, the degree and extent of the suffering being, of course, proportionate with the extent of the traffic; so there is no new element in that part of the Homerville appeal.

But there is something not only new, but startling, in that part which pleads inability on the part of the existing machinery of the law to cope with the moonshiners and blind tigers.

Chief Williams and one judge can do it!

If Chief Williams, for example, will corral one blind tiger and take him before the judge; then if the judge after being convinced of the man's guilt, will give him a maximum sentence in prison; then repeat the performance with the next guilty violator caught, and the next, etc., it will not require many such demonstrations of the law's power to make whisky trafficking a mighty unpopular business in Homerville. And if the other officers of the law in Clinch county, and all over Georgia, will adopt the same policy against the blind tigers' violation of the prohibition laws would quickly cease.

But so long as judges permit blind tigers to buy their way to liberty by the payment of a few dollars—the usual fine being less than the "going price" of a gallon of moonshine whisky—the liquor traffic, with its inevitable consequences in the form of "suffering to women and children," will continue, and mountains of appeals to the governor cannot stop it!

Nor can arresting officers be reasonably expected to be diligent in their efforts to apprehend prohibition violators so long as the courts fail to co-operate with them, and persist in discouraging them by showing favoritism to this particular class of criminals in exacting a pittance of money as the price of freedom to commit further violations of the law.

The courts can put an end to this miserable business if they will.

THE DEATH OF MACSWINEY.

Death has finally ended the tension that has existed over the outcome of the hunger strike of Terrence MacSwiney, lord mayor of Cork, who, for seventy-three days, has lingered in prison, determined to starve himself to death rather than to abide by the sentence of the court, in which he was convicted of sedition.

Reduced to its final analysis, the death of MacSwiney was suicide, pure and simple—as much as though he had taken poison or ended his life with a dagger in court following his conviction.

Of course, the motive that prompted him was patriotic, but his point of view; and he made the supreme sacrifice, subjecting himself to the trying ordeal of starvation in the hope that it would attract the sympathetic attention of the world to what he called "the cause of Ireland."

To do that he has made his loving wife a widow and his innocent, helpless child an orphan.

There can be no doubt that the man who voluntarily puts himself through such a test of endurance—a test that must result in death—is actuated, not only by the deepest sincerity, but by the broadest patriotism.

But there is room for very serious doubt as to whether or not the sacrifice MacSwiney has made has produced or will bring about the result intended; and as to whether or not the civilized world will employ the method he employed to "help the cause."

Unquestionably, had the British government surrendered to MacSwiney's ultimatum of release under the threat of starvation, there would have been an end to British authority in Ireland; for, if MacSwiney's "hunger strike" had proven a success, every other one who might set British authority at defiance would have resorted to the same method to evade punishment.

The issue had to be made sooner or later.

And now that it has been made, it is to be hoped that this will be the last test of its sort to be made in Great Britain or elsewhere.

There are other ways to redress wrongs, if wrongs exist; there are better methods of meeting grievances than by deliberately making widows and orphans "to help the cause."

"Only dispute among republicans is as to the size of the majority," says a G. O. P. contemporary. All wrong; the main dispute seeming to be whether Harding is for the league of nations or against it.

Several eclipses are on the calendar for 1920; the greatest of all—and one of which the almanac says nothing—is to be staged on November 2.

One wonders how Article 10 would look to Taft, Root et al., had league friends succeeded in their efforts to get an endorsement of it in the Chicago convention platform.

Wherever the liquor traffic exists it essentially causes the wom-

Prominent Business Man Takes Renewed Hope at Constitution's Optimism

Editor Constitution: Permit me to offer my hearty congratulations on the timeliness and common sense of your editorial of the 22nd, "The Dangerous Talk." This covers the situation perfectly, as does your splendid Sunday editorial.

If we will all forget about trouble and turn our attention to developing the best phases of existing conditions, all will come out all right.

"As a man thinketh" operates today exactly the same as when it was first enunciated.

Business conditions are not very far away from normal.

They are much better than they were before the war.

We are headed back toward normal but we must not get back to it too quickly.

The natural and economic laws of supply and demand will cover the situation perfectly if we don't get frightened.

The newspapers are the most powerful factor for moulding public opinion.

It is wonderfully gratifying to receive such immediate and encouraging support as you are giving us.

Extending Cotton Market

Better Than Stimulating

Price of Unsound Credit

Editor Constitution: The movement inaugurated by R. P. Maddox to associate large capital for the direct financing of cotton exports ought to have the strong support of southern financial interests because it opens the way for strengthening the market in a natural, healthful and helpful manner instead of resorting to artificial price stimulation by the giving of unsound credit, based upon the harmful withholding of a great staple from world consumption and with a resultant inflation in opposition to the general policy of deflation which is now so necessary for a return to normal conditions.

If the federal reserve were to accede to the demand for practically unlimited credits in order that cotton might be indefinitely stored until the price reaches an arbitrarily fixed point, one of two things would certainly happen: Either the cotton would cease to bloom in Dixie or the future market would be flooded far beyond the limits of consumption, with a final demoralization far greater than that which is causing justified concern at the present time.

Seemingly some of our astute business men have had their reasoning power so distorted by their deep and natural concern over the southern cotton market that they have unconsciously assumed the position of the Alabama legislator who promised his constituents that if elected, his first move would be to propose the repeal of the law of supply and demand.

The writer does not for a moment pose as an expert. His lack of knowledge of the technique of cotton marketing and financing is undoubtedly colossal in some respects. It happens that he is a member of the foreign trade class which has just concluded its very practical course of instruction at the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce and the Southern Cotton Association.

He is, therefore, that the wise expert offered in the plan of Mr. Maddox makes an instant appeal.

The present cotton situation is only one of the many trade conditions which are directing the attention of our business men to the necessity of developing more direct facilities for financing it in competition with the more liberal policies of the European banking interests.

The genius of foreign trade as a stabilizer of domestic conditions lies in the fact that it offers an outlet for excess production. When production reaches the point that the domestic supply is satisfied and home demand is met, the surplus is exported to other countries.

In the case of cotton this market already exists—largely in Germany. But the war has produced abnormal conditions and therefore unusual methods must be applied. Extraordinary conditions must be given the German importers until their factories can convert the raw material into finished goods.

And the sale thereof can be effected. Then the German manufacturer will send the finished goods to the United States in exchange for cotton. And the German importer will have been improved. The plan of Mr. Maddox is essentially sound.

JAMES A. METCALF,

Atlanta, Ga., October 25, 1920.

When Mr. Taft Spoke

In Atlanta for League

Editor Constitution: At the auditorium ex-President Taft enthusiastically argued for the league of nations at Atlanta on October 10 in particular. He then complained that Atlanta "always applauded him but never understood him."

Does he wonder that we are not voting with him when he is supporting that shifty politician Harding who would "scrap" the league of nations at the dictation of John D. Rockefeller?

We lost in killed more than 80,000 of the flower of American youth in whipping Germany. Besides, there are tens and hundreds of thousands who have been maimed for life from that conflict. We have lost billions of dollars. Would it not be better under the league of nations to send a few thousand to do police duty over there as we are now doing in Haiti and prevent such terrible sacrifices as we have made the last five years?

Germany's battle cry was "Germany over all!" Surely we will not follow Taft, whose battle cry is "America over all!" Such conduct was suicidal to Germany and it will be suicidal to America.

"LANGUID" THAT'S THE WORD

Not Sick Exactly, Just Seem To Have No Ambition

And Will Feeling Seldom Necessary

Pepto-Mangan, The Red Blood Builder, Does Away
with Languor

If you don't feel like doing things, you won't. If you wonder where some people get all their energy, the answer is from good food which in turn makes rich, red blood.

If your food does not give the nourishment and vigor it should,
it is most likely that your blood is weak that it needs a little extra help for a time to build it up to normal strength.

Thousands of men and women have been restored to vigorous health and lasting happiness by Pepto-Mangan. This beneficial blood tonic contains the very properties so vitally needed to improve the blood. Pepto-Mangan, if taken for a few weeks, will enrich the blood and create thousands of the tiny red blood cells which are so necessary to carry nourishment and strength to every part of the body.

Be sure to ask your druggist for
"Gude's" when you order Pepto-Mangan. For convenience it is prepared in liquid and tablet form, both possessing exactly the same medicinal properties. "Gude's" is the trade name. Pepto-Mangan. Look for the name "Gude's" on the package.

A few well chosen words
about Ingersoll Reliance

RELIANCE is the seven jeweled aristocrat of the Ingersoll line.

You might also call him the
"survivor of the fittest."

For in perfecting Reliance 362 other makes of watches were studied for "points"—and the result is a watch with the best features of all of them and twenty-nine less parts than any of them.

Furthermore, Reliance is tested to tell accurate time in six positions—two days in each; and this after 127 factory inspections.

You'll have to go way up in the watch world to find such a slim, smart, distinguished time piece as Reliance.

If you find one, it'll cost you a lot more than the Reliance price, which is only $8.00 in nickel case, $11.50 in gold-filled.

Witches Will Visit Atlanta Again Saturday To Raise Money for Working Girls' Home

second row, Miss Miriam Orr, Mrs. Foster Smith and Mrs. Lowndes Lippitt.

Next Saturday the witches will invade Atlanta. Uniformed in dark robe and high-peaked hat, picturesque Halloween costume, members of the Witches' club will take possession of the downtown streets in quest of contributions for the

Eliza Manget Home for Working Girls.
Six successive years these pretty "witches" have come with the Halloween and Atlanta's purse strings have been loosed to them with increasing liberality. This year they will ask for $5,000 to free the home from mortgage.

No weird charms will members of the circle of mystery invoke to beguile passers-by. All Atlanta knows the worthy object of their appeal and the grinning pumpkins which they will carry will be rapidly filled with shining coin and crisp bills.

some time that there were differences between Mr. Dobbs and the board, which would result in his resignation, but until the board met and acted, Mr. Dobbs declined to make any statements. The reason given for Mr. Dobbs' resignation was that there were irreconcilable differences between him and some of the board regarding the advertising policy of the company.

In retiring from the company, Mr.
Dobbs severs a relationship that has existed since 1888, he having been employed by Asa G. Candler, who acquired Coca-Cola at that time, and as sent out on the road by Mr.
Candler to market this then comparatively unknown soda fountain drink.

Mr. Dobbs has filled every position in the company, from errand boy to president, and has had charge of the sales and advertising department of the company for almost twenty years. As director of the advertising company, he has attained an international reputation.

Worn Out In Mind and Body

Your child is quick to observe disturbances in your mental attitude or physical condition. And when he asks: "What's the matter, Daddy?"
there's a tone of solemn anxiety in his little voice. The depression stamped upon you reflects intensely upon him because of his profound solitude. He at once drops his playthings and rushes to your side, but his happy smile has disappeared and his buoyant spirit is gone—replaced by a countenance of worry and a bearing of hopelessness.

You owe it to the happiness and welfare of your family to keep trim in body and keen in intellect. You are the sun and the inspiration of their lives. Dark, threatening clouds hover over their heads the instant you show signs of being "out of gear" or "under the weather."
Don't imperil their future by neglecting your health.

LYKO
The Great General Tonic
will banish that "tired feeling" and dispel that worn-out look. It will renew your strength and vigor, overcome the ravaging effects of overwork and worry, revive your spirit and increase your hold on life. Being a refreshing appetizer, a valuable aid to digestion and a worthy promoter of the general health, because of its positive revitalizing and reconstructive value, its use is especially desirable in cases of abnormal conditions. If you suffer from nervous exhaustion, muscular or mental fatigue or depression of vital forces due to general weakness or wanting illness, you'll find "LYKO" particularly beneficial. It tones up the entire system and keeps you feeling fit. Ask your druggist for a bottle today.

TRAINS FALL THROUGH BURNT BRIDGE; 2 DEAD

Waycross, Ga., October 23.—(Special).—A wreck that resulted in the instant killing of Engineer Potter, white, and the negro fireman, Ed
Cooper, occurred on the Atlantic Coast Line railroad this morning at about 7:30 o'clock near Lulaton, when the engine, combination baggage and mail coach and the negro passenger coach of the B. & W. passenger train, No. 95, ran into a burning trestle.

A heavy fog prevented Engineer Potter from seeing the burning trestle and before he could apply the brakes over half the train had plunged off the track. By remaining at his post of duty and applying the brakes he probably saved the lives of all the passengers.

As soon as word of the accident was received here a wrecking crew and emergency medical attention was hurried to the scene of the wreck. Those who were shaken up and suffering minor bruises were brought here when the relief train returned at 12:30 o'clock and were

Proud of Its Great Fight Against Warner's Panthers, The Tornado Starts Big Week

Under the policy adopted by Coach Alexander this year there are to be no closed workouts for the team. The players are to be free to leave the institution cannot attend, but strangers have not been admitted to the gymnasium. The players are strange—suspicious looking or otherwise—and it is quite possible that they will be. The team is to be along with a crowd of Tech men and the unheeded. Just yesterday the team was seen to be in the gymnasium, admitted over to the players' gate and the crowd was allowed to watch the jackets in action.

Today there will be a stiffer workout. The team is to be seen to be that the varsity will do battle with the reserves of Coach Clay. The team is to be seen to be in the gymnasium to perform in the big pit contest and the doubters.

The practice time of the jackets has been set for 5:15 p.m. The team is to be seen to be in the gymnasium to perform in the big pit contest and the doubters.

Probably see the hour of beginning shifted forward to 3:30. If the men are to be seen to be in the gymnasium to perform in the big pit contest and the doubters.

Condition they are now in.

One look at the flying figures above, and the reader will get a pretty definite idea of how the Pitt Panther felt in the first half Saturday when the full force of the Golden Tornado swept across Forbes field. Here we see Buck Flowers, the ground-gaining captain of the Georgia Tech team skirting right end for a long gain. After carrying the ball to Pitt's five-yard line on this occasion, Captain Buck was called back because his team was alleged by the officials to have been offside. Similar heart-breaking occurrences were suffered by the Tornado throughout the game. "Buck" isn't in terrible danger of being downed, having left the majority of Pitt tacklers to the rear. He was later brought down through the efforts of a flock of Panthers that showed up near the goal line. When Flowers began this dash, the moans and groans of the Panther fans were heard above the triumphant cheers of the Tornado followers.

HARVARD VICTORY WAS DOPE

New Orleans, La., October 25.—Although Atlanta, represented by the East Lake and Druid Hills club, has the biggest number of women golfers here of any city in the south, it seemed tonight that the daughters of Georgia were going to taste defeat in the women's southern golf championship, especially unless Mrs. David Gaut, of Memphis, Tenn., broke an arm or suffered some other mishap.

This daughter of Tennessee fairly swept the other women golfers off their feet in the qualifying round today when she turned in a card of 90 for the course, the lowest of any woman player in the history of the club. She went out in 45 in the morning and missed the trick with the same number of strokes in the afternoon or last half of the 18 holes.

Mrs. K. G. Duffield, a teammate, was a runner up with a card of 92, while Mrs. J. Hodges of Memphis was third, with a card of 97. This gave the team prize to Memphians, they being the only players

BY WALTER CAMP.

Columbus, Ohio, October 25.—This Ohio city witnessed one of the really great football games of the season when it saw Ohio State—the pride of the Buckeye State—first trail behind Wisconsin to the tune of 7 to 0 score, then wipe out the cipher, so that the game stood 7 to 6, and finally in the last minute played stage a Garrison finish victory by 13 to 7.

It was truly a wonderful contest between two well rounded teams, but the forward pass turned the trick for Ohio. The men of both teams tackled like fiends and there was very little fumbling. During the first period Wisconsin seemed to lead. It had more push, more stiffness in the line and its ends were faster in getting down the field.

But Ohio State improved steadily, reserving its latest brilliancy for their hair-raising finish. In Workman and his marvelous forward passing, it held one card which was better than any possessed by Wisconsin. Mindful of the ability of the Strohbecker and his men, who through the usual light Monday workout, just giving them a chance to limber up and get in condition for some scrimmaging today or tomorrow. Signal practice really occupied the greater part of the evening's workout and way up till dark the Jacket varsity rambled from one end of the flats to the other, running through every one of the many shifts and formations.

A Hard Week.
The program for the week is pretty thoroughly outlined and there is a world of work ahead of the Tech men before they can meet the Centre Colonels here next Saturday. One must not gain the impression that Tech didn't suffer quite a bit themselves in the invasion of Pittsburgh.

There are some reminders of the afternoon of the coaches just now. The Pittsburg game was an instance, but the game of the night on Friday, Oct. 30 will be just as big. Centre coaches are not so sure of their own strength as they were from them by the Hays crowd. They are expected to get a good deal of cheering and shouting. Just the sort of reception they are sure for in one can well imagine. It is hard to do.

The last of the reserved seats of the game will go on sale today at Jacobs' main store beginning at 10 o'clock this morning. There is a large number of seats on the main floor in number of seats in the wooden stands on the eastern side of the house. The last of the reserved seats for the Centre game, over 7,000 have been secured for the game. The seating space for nearly 4,000 more is being accommodated in the new room now being framing in for the big game and standing room will be provided for the overflow of even more than this.

the fight was responsible for Smith's defeat.

While the main event will be well worth the price of admission, the fight over the prize money is concerned, the Avera-Kelly scrap, which has been scheduled for the round of 16, will be fought through ten rounds to a referee's decision, should further rounds be necessary. Avera and Kelly are lightweights and will weigh in about the same tonight.

After the boxing round, the winners will follow immediately after the battle royal, which will bring together two men and boys, two Atlanta boys will meet.

Tickets for tonight's boxing are 50c, 75c and $1.00. Refreshments are served at Chess' Place, Rex Poolroom and Silverman's Buffet. All are open to the public and all are invited to attend the fights with or without an escort.

Yale showed the same qualities against West Virginia, as Harvard did in the Centeneed game. It was disgrace to these two teams from the south that they were sent back home defeated. The Georgia Tech was defeated by Pittsburg in her venture in northern territory.

These intercollegiate games are of immense benefit to the sport and

They had yet to be heard at Ponce de Leon; Furman in November 6; Moravian in November 13; University of Georgia in November 19. One can easily see that the school has a lot of leathros this year. They are easy to win over, and they are not anticipating a lot of losing of the four games.

Little should be the state of the school at the end of the season. This is to seven points. The school is not that they are the only touch-down scored on the route in the last year.

Milledgeville, Ga., October 25.—(Special).—Tifton defeated G. M. C. 7 to 0, today, Fletcher, Tifton's full-back, getting off with a long end run, sidestepping and interference, even the safety man, running 75 yards for touchdown in the early part of the first quarter.

During the remainder of the game, Tifton's full-back, Fletcher, and G. M. C. outplayed each other, keeping the ball continuously in their territory, and threatening Tifton's goal, but they could not get it over. During the last quarter Tifton resorted to a kicking each time the ball hit the goal. G. M. C. was pressing hard for a touchdown when the whistle blew, being only 12 yards from goal.

STATE ASKS DEATH OF CARL WANDERER

Chicago, October 25.—The state today asked the death penalty for Carl Wanderer, 34, a former Marine, on trial for the murder of his wife and the "raged stranger," whom he is alleged to have killed in a fake hold-up.

"There is only one penalty commensurate with this heinous crime, and that is death," James C. McLaughlin, assistant state's attorney, told the jury.

Bill Bailey, a light-heavyweight champion of Atlanta, who recently battled Jack Abel to a draw, will have a tough nut to crack when he meets the much younger, but more powerful, Birmingham, Ala., fighter, Hume McDonald's star boxing bill at the auditorium tonight. In addition to the Bailey-Dixon bout will be the second round of a ten-round fight between Larry Avera and Battling Kelly, of Birmingham. The contest will be a local youngsters' and a battle between two young colored boys.

The winner of the Dixon-Bailey set-to will be matched with Harry Greb, Pittsburg's great boxer, in a bout which will be pulled off at the auditorium on November 9. Promoter McDonald has already signed up Greb and the latter's opponent-to-be will be determined to-night. Last Thursday night Greb put Gunboat Smith, heavyweight, down and out after two minutes of
